TROUBLES OF A SELF DEFENDER

The only business which has come in to the Police Department this morning is the case of a watermelon raiser, Mr. Appell on Orange street, who has been systematically robbed lately and who finally—believing that protection is the first law of nature—got out and oiled up his Smith and Wesson shotgun and camped in the melon patch, whence he has been shooting when robbers appeared to be approaching. The neighbors complained and an officer was sent to the patch to bring the gunman and his gun to the City Hall, where it was explained that such defense is contrary to the ordinances of the municipality and that his proper course would have been to notify the police when he began to lose the melons. When asked if the department would now protect the premises, the Chief replied that they would do so if he would lodge a formal complaint when the next robber appeared. Citizens who need help of that sort should therefore bear in mind the red tape necessary to secure the co-operation of the Police Department, which in turn is handicapped by its own red tape limitations.

BIG DONATIONS

DRIVE FOR BELGIAN RELIEF GARMENTS IN TROPICO DISTRICT YIELDS 1260 LBS.

The drive for clothing for Belgian and French refugees in the Tropico district was a most gratifying success. It was thoroughly organized, with headquarters in the Central building on San Fernando road, and with a different organization in charge each day. Some wholesome rivalry developed and all worked diligently to gather big contributions. The results as reported by Mrs. E. V. Bacon, of each day's work and the organization responsible, are as follows:

- Monday—P. E. O., 236 pounds, including 52 pounds of garments made by P. E. O. members at their weekly meetings.
- Tuesday—Woman's Relief Corps, 160 pounds.
- Wednesday—Ladies' Aid Society of Tropico M. E. Church, 211 pounds.
- Thursday—Thursday Afternoon Woman's Club, 235 pounds.
- Friday—Ladies' Aid Society of Tropico Presbyterian Church, 158 pounds.
- Saturday—Red Cross Branch, 260 pounds.

Total for the week, 1260 pounds. All garments were of good, strong materials and the shipment included underwear, dresses and coats for men, women and children.

If all cities as far exceed their quotas as has this section of Glendale, it will require several ships to carry the cargo across the water.

CHIPMUNKS UNDER FIRE

MR. KIRK RECEIVES ENTERTAINING LETTER FROM PRIVATE JOHN C. GILLHAM

Aug. 17, 1918.
France.

My Dear Mr. Kirk:
I have been receiving letters for over two months now without being able to answer one-fifth of them. As I received them I would have to throw them away as we were moving so much and the bunch was getting larger, it became impossible for me to keep them. Therefore, I really don't know who I owe letters to and who I don't. But I am going to write to you anyway.

I have written to mother and Ruth about my experiences of the past month and perhaps Ruth has told you most of it.

Now that I am sitting back here in our rest camp, under the shade of a big tree, the only thing I have to fight are flies and yellowjackets. I almost believe I have only had a dream about what we have been through. But it has left its marks in our company for there are faces we miss and will never forget.

I would love to have had you with us, Mr. Kirk, when we were after those Germans. We had to take trucks the first day up to get anywhere near the front. Then it was moving every day as the Germans would retreat. They left everything behind. You could find almost anything you wanted. We were in shell fire all the time. The mental strain was so great some of the fellows got shell shock; another went crazy. It was moving to a new woods and trying to dig yourself a hole before a shell could come over. In one place we dug ourselves a hole about two feet deep, long and wide enough for two, logs over the top, then a straw tick, and dirt over that, leaving a small hole to crawl in and out. Whenever they started shelling us we would crawl in our holes. Then when the shelling would slacken we could see heads popping up all over. We were like chipmunks coming out of our hole after the hunter had gone by.

One night we went out to do some work. We walked about seven or eight kilometers before we came to our work. When we were there it began raining. It rained all night. We were wet to the skin. I had lost my underwear long ago, only had the shirt I had on my back, likewise my pants. When I got back to our camp the water had run into our dugout and even our blankets were wet. Water all over the bottom of our dugout. I was cold, tired, hungry and wet, with nothing dry to put on. So I just crawled in the dugout and the other fellow I was sleeping with got close to me and we were soon sound asleep. When we awoke we were as wet as ever but the sun was shining and we got our things dried out.

Well, Mr. Kirk, I could go on for pages, but must close as we must have all letters in by six o'clock and it is nearly that now.

As ever your friend,
JOHN.

THE TRADE MARK OF MERCY

Complaint has been made to the Evening News that many persons who are in ignorance of the Government ruling in regard to the use of the Red Cross as a symbol, are putting it upon their automobiles, are wearing it on hats, are putting it on their doors and using it as they would a service flag. This is said to be contrary to law and is considered a misdemeanor which could be prosecuted. The Red Cross is regarded as an emblem sacred to the work it represents and one which can not be used indiscriminately. Workers in the surgical dressings departments of the Red Cross are expected to sign a solemn oath before being permitted to wear the headress and apron bearing the red cross which are used in that department, and it is expected that the garments will be used only in the work room. If worn outside in any public place, a special permit is required. The symbol is precisely like that of a trade mark which can not be used except by authority of the owner and in this case the owner is the government of the United States. The idea seems to be that it is an emblem sacred to the great work of mercy it represents and should not be used carelessly or indifferently or without authority. Officials are particularly calling attention to the use of the red cross on knitting bags as a violation of the ruling.

P. E. O. MEETING

Chapter B. A. of the P. E. O. will hold its first all-day meeting for the season at the home of Mrs. Josephine Brant at 231 Kenwood street.

AMERICANS IN THICK OF THE FIGHT

ARE FIRMLY HOLDING THE HINDENBURG LINE NEAR CATELET AND IN THE CHAMPAGNE DISTRICT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
PARIS, October 1.—Troops under General Berthelot went into action this morning west of Rheims between the Aisne and the Vesle. At four o'clock this afternoon reports indicated the Germans were withdrawing.

Gouraud's army on Berthelot's right also is advancing and the dispatches indicate would reach all objectives by night. The attack in this region apparently is designed to eliminate the salient remaining west of Rheims following the Marne offensive.

The French have approximately advanced five miles on a 25-mile front to a near approach to last year's line. Around Catelet, New York troops are firmly holding the Hindenburg line west of the city where they withstand violent fighting.

In the Champagne the Americans are continuing to meet with violent German resistance. Missouri and Pennsylvania troops are in the thick of this fighting.

GERMAN RESISTANCE STIFFENING

ON RHEIMS-VERDUN FRONT IT IS CENTERED AGAINST AMERICANS IN THE ARGONNE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
LONDON, October 1.—The Germans are burning Cambrai while the British are fighting in its outskirts, according to Field Marshal Haig's report today.

After capturing Trouville and Villoy in the Cambrai region, violent fighting was resumed this morning.

North of St. Quentin the British captured Levergies, made progress toward Joncourt and captured Vendhuile west of Lecatlet.

On the Rheims-Verdun front the Germans centered their resistance against the Americans in the Argonne. The continuous arrival of German reinforcements has slowed down the American advance. The French on the American left have advanced a total of ten miles since the drive started.

In Flanders the battle front now covers a distance of fifty miles from Dixmude to Labassee. The penetration there is eight miles.

The Germans now are facing the loss of their submarine bases and the manufacturing centers of Lille and Loubaix, and Turcoing. Between the Ailette and the Vesle the French continued their progress and won considerable ground.

In Palestine the British have reached a point within two and a half miles of Damascus and the city's fall is expected momentarily. Simultaneously the French cavalry began an advance on Beirut.

KING FERDINAND LEAVES BULGARIA

COPENHAGEN DISPATCHES REPORT HIS ARRIVAL AT ESSENTHAL CASTLE NEAR VIENNA

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
COPENHAGEN, October 1.—The Frankfurter-Zeitung today announced that King Ferdinand of Bulgaria had arrived at Essenthal castle near Vienna, which is the first intimation that Ferdinand had left Bulgaria and may indicate that the reported revolt is developing.

Riots are reported at Constantinople.
ROME, October 1.—The Vatican has been confidentially informed that King Ferdinand is about to abdicate the Bulgarian throne in favor of his son, Prince Boris.

WASHINGTON, October 1.—Authoritative diplomatic circles today considered that the flight of Ferdinand of Bulgaria was a practical abdication. It is believed that Premier Malinoff forced the king to leave fearing his pro-German influence.

TODAY'S CASUALTY LIST

FIVE HUNDRED AND NINETY-EIGHT MEN ARE KILLED, WOUNDED, MISSING OR PRISONERS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WASHINGTON, October 1.—The following casualties are reported by the Commanding General of the American Expeditionary Forces: Killed in action, 124; missing in action, 13; wounded severely, 437; died from wounds, 10; died from accident and other causes, 3; wounded, degree undetermined, 4; wounded slightly, 3; prisoners, 4.

Killed in action, Alexander Linde, Lodi, Calif.
The list of severely wounded included Private Richard I. Corum of Sacramento, Calif.; Sergt. Jack E. Graham of Floriston, Calif.; Sergt. Nathaniel B. Crittenden, Oakland, Calif.; Private John Hayward, Big Bar, Calif., and Private Clarence E. Liedle of Camarillo, Calif.

VICTORIES ON FRANCO-AMERICAN FRONT

PARIS, October 1.—The war office late today announced that the French had captured Zinarville and Conce-le-Autry at the junction of the Franco-American front in Argonne.

Since September 26th the French have taken 33,000 German prisoners and 300 guns in the Champagne region.

WAR AT FIRST HAND

VIVID DESCRIPTION OF BATTLE EXPERIENCES BY SERGEANT OWEN EMERY

On Active Service with the American Expeditionary Forces
Aug. 23rd, 1918.

Dear Folks:

I am reading in spare time a book by Amelia E. Barr, "A Song of a Single Note." It is a love story of the Revolution with scenes laid mostly in New York.

Today we are fighting with England and France for their freedom, trying to repay to that old friend a hundredfold. Such is the turn of events and the rotation of history's wheel.

And can we compare our boys with those of the Revolution? Yes, I think so, and without regret. They were fighting for their own liberty, the right to speak, do and live as their wills dictated. They were fighting for their very hearthstones, their wives, mothers and sweethearts. They marched, countermarched, fought and bled on their own soil, sometimes in their own backyard. They were at home with all their loved ones near. It was life or death to them.

But our boys? Ten thousand miles they have traveled, into a strange land, among a hospitable but strange people, to fight for the same principles that governed the Revolution. I wonder sometimes if people in general at home realize what the boys are doing for the Stars and Stripes and America, yes, for the whole world in general.

And yet our boys go into a battle today that would petrify Washington, or even Grant and Lee.

One must have been to the front to even begin to realize the awful hell that rages there. How much nerve does it take for men to pile out of a small protecting trench and rush into the open, swept by a perfect sheet of machine gun fire, through curtains of bursting shrapnel, dodging (if one could so say) shells larger than oneself, which when they hit leave ugly gaps thirty feet deep and thirty feet wide? On and on, never knowing when a mine shall blow them to their God, or at what instant an aeroplane will fill them with bullets or shells, and then on, trusting to luck that no deadly, sneaking, stealthy gas shall fill their lungs, choking them, causing them to slowly sink to earth, writhing and dying in their own saliva. Then the end one way or another! The thrusting or receiving of the cold bayonet or the hot needle prick of the wide-nosed pistol bullet. And then, if they have gained the appointed place, the preparation for the counter-attack without a moment's breathing spell between. I wonder do the people at home realize this?

I suppose I should not dwell upon these things, but the thought came to me as I was reading of how much more our boys today were giving up, and how many more chances they were taking than our forefathers. No.

MUNICIPAL AGITATION

There is an unusual amount of agitation in municipal affairs in Glendale today and the agitation threatens to continue through the entire week. Numerous petitions are in the hands of circulators asking that the expense connected with the city manager's office be abolished, at least until the close of the war. It has been reported that this petition now has more than a thousand signers and the circulators are busy at work. The claim on the part of citizens is that war conditions demand a curtailment of municipal expenses of from $500 to $1000 per month and that such reduction may be made without materially affecting the success of the municipal machinery. The question will be up to the board of trustees for disposal.

DORAN STREET P.-T. A.

The Doran Street Parent-Teacher Association will hold its first regular meeting for the season Wednesday, October 2d, at 3:15 o'clock at the school house. Mrs. East, the president, will preside.

Mrs. A. A. Barton, President of the Glendale Federation of P.-T. A.'s, and the chairmen of the different committees will discuss in an informal way the work of the coming year. There will be a special musical program and a cordial invitation is extended to the mothers of all children who attend the Doran street school. It will be practically a rally of new and old members to get acquainted with each other and with the teachers of the school.

FAREWELL TO PASTOR

GLENDALE METHODIST CHURCH BIDS REV. AND MRS. SNUDDEN GODSPEED

The farewell reception given at the First Methodist church of Glendale Monday evening for the pastor, Rev. B. Dudley Snudden, and Mrs. Snudden, was very largely attended. Members of the official board of the church and officers of the Ladies' Aid Society were in the receiving line, the function taking place in the church parlors, which were beautifully decorated with flowers for the occasion.

The program, which had been arranged by Miss Isgrig, choir director, expressed in various ways the sincere regret which members of the church feel in parting with Mr. and Mrs. Snudden, and the Godspeer they are giving them in their new work, for Mr. Snudden looks for a call any day to service under the Y. M. C. A. in the army. The program as presented included:

Greetings by Miss Helen Schwartz. Vocal solos by Misses Margaret Lusby, Eva Thede, Marian Addison, Jennie Lacy and Mrs. Marie Pierce. Readings by Mesdames Helen Salisbury and Dana Goss.

A fine talk was made by Rev. C. R. Norton, who spoke warmly of the spirit of harmony in the church which had prevailed under Mr. Snudden's pastorate.

Dr. A. L. Bryant followed with a speech in which he dwelt appreciatively upon the pastor's service and the way in which he and Mrs. Snudden had endeared themselves to the church, and then in behalf of the men of the church he presented to Mr. Snudden a handsome wrist watch, and to Mrs. Snudden a similar tribute from the women of the church.

Appropriate responses were made by the pastor and Mrs. Snudden, the pastor heartily congratulating the church on the splendid showing it has made during the past year in its contributions to benevolences as well as in its regular church work.

Light refreshments were served and were followed by a social hour in which guests had an opportunity to say good-bye to Mr. and Mrs. Snudden and express their good wishes.

At the conference meeting for the Southern California District which is being held in Bakersfield this week, an appointment for this church will be made, as Mr. Snudden will soon be leaving for his new work.

DEATH OF BABY LENNOX

Little Howard Lennox, Jr., 2-year-old son of Howard and Miriam Harrison Lennox of Van Nuys, passed away Monday evening, September 30. The deepest sympathy is felt for the sorrowing parents, and the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Harrison, 201 North Kenwood street, Glendale, by a large circle of loving friends.

Private services will be held Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock at Forest Lawn Memorial Park.

THE BOYS APPRECIATED

REV. T. F. MCCREA DESCRIBES TRANSCONTINENTAL TRIP WITH U. S. TROOPS

Workers at Red Cross headquarters were treated to an unexpected pleasure Monday afternoon, a visit from T. F. McCrea, their first vice-chairman. He came full of enthusiasm for his Y. M. C. A. work at Camp Kearny and his trip east with the boys. Of the trip, he said:

"The first week in August witnessed the entrainment of the Camp Kearny troops for the Atlantic coast en route to France. For eight days, from eight in the morning until eight at night, great troop trains of ten or twelve Pullmans left at two-hour intervals—fifty-eight in all—and on train fifty-six was Dr. McCrea with a detachment of boys from Utah.

"To these boys, many of whom had never been east of the Rockies, and all of whom had spent a year at Camp Kearny, that trip of six days came as the wonderful unfolding panorama of a country's patriotism."

"San Bernardino was the first stop. There flags were flying, bands playing and Red Cross workers with candy, cake, post cards and pencils welcomed the boys. Then, too, there was a rose for each of the boys and although Mr. McCrea did not mention it, no doubt pretty girls to distribute the roses. Their Sunday stop was planned for a town in New Mexico, and a telegram to the Y. M. C. A. asked that a hall be provided for services for the boys. But when they reached the station there was no hall big enough to hold the congregation. The whole population, gone mad with enthusiasm, was there to greet the

BUY LIBERTY BONDS

Both patriotism and financial prudence make the purchase of Liberty Bonds imperative, say bankers and economists.

Patriotism, because the war is not yet near its end, despite the prevalence of suggestions to that effect given wide circulation as pro-German propaganda designed to induce America to slacken its war efforts. That Germany, despite its recent "peace offensive," realizes this fully is shown by the fact that she is now floating her ninth war loan. Her people have already contributed five and a half billion dollars this year through her seventh and eighth war loans.

Financial prudence, because at this time goods of one dollar ordinary value can not be bought for less than $1.50. Prices are expected to go still higher before the war's end, and the more freely money is spent, the higher they will tend.

"You feel ashamed, under ordinary circumstances, to spend $1.50 for something you know is only worth a dollar," says Frank B. Anderson, San Francisco banker and vice-chairman of the General Executive Board of the Twelfth Federal Reserve District.

"Why not go without it and save your money for the time when the normal purchasing power of a dollar has been restored?"

"You may be able to help run up prices, but is it patriotic, or is it common sense?"

"Every dollar that is spent is a demand on labor and is competing with the Government for the labor and the product the Government needs and must have to bring the war to an early end."

"To the extent the Government fails to secure the labor and the products to carry out its program, to that extent the end is delayed."

"Present prices are caused by the population competing with the Government. The Government can not and must not refrain from buying. The people must. There is not production enough for both."

"Every dollar saved today and invested in Government Bonds, therefore, not only aids in keeping prices down, but is a dollar that will have the purchasing power of a dollar after the war."

THE INSULTED MULETEER

A muleteer, covered with prairie dust and leaving behind him a rising cloud of dust, drove up to the American Library Association's library at Camp Custer, jerked his mules to a standstill, and shouted lustily for the librarian.

"I want a good book on automobiles," he announced. "I've been runnin' a fine, first class garage back in Illinois, and I want to keep my mind fresh up."

"One minute," said the librarian. He went in the building and brought out a new book. "Exactly what you want—the latest book on the model-T Ford."

The mule driver grunted in disgust.

"Look here, pardner," said he in a voice of exasperation. "I've taken apart and reassembled fifteen hundred Fords in my lifetime. I said I wanted something to refresh my mind!"

"One second," requested the librarian, diving into the building again. This time he brought out a 1918 handbook on the automobile—the very latest. "How about this?" he asked.

The muleteer looked at it, grinned. "Just the thing!" he exclaimed. "Giddap!"

IOWA YANKEE WANTED ACTION

By Frank J. Taylor
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
AN AMERICAN HOSPITAL IN FRANCE, Sept. 3. (By Mail.)—They give the boys such good care in the hospitals that now and then a man hates to go back to the front. You can tell how keen he is by what he says when the doctor says, "Well, Old Man, how do you feel? Think you're ready for the front again?"

Sometimes there are real or imaginary or half-real, half-imaginary pains which convalescents can produce for the occasion. Usually there are not.

Rufus Jacoby of Waterloo, Iowa, speaks with a Southern accent. In his company there are "Joe and Mill and me," as Rufus puts it. "we're all brothers. Joe an' Mill's been in the army a long time, and when this war started, I stole into the army, too."

Rufus was wounded, which he did not mind, except that it vexed him to have to leave the company. Though he had a serious wound, he tried to get the doctor to let him stay with the company and "rest up a bit."

But the doctor couldn't do that, and Rufus went back to a base hospital where he was operated on, and soon was convalescing. Every day he pestered the doctors for permission to go back to the company.

"You see," he explained to the doctor many times over, "ordinarily troops and escort them to the public park. There the bands played and a local judge and several ministers made short addresses. The choir sang for the boys and the boys sang in return. Then refreshments and time to leave.

"This was one of the many welcomes that brought tears to the eyes of the officers and caused the boys to shout: 'We sure can fight for a country that gets behind us like this,' welcomes that built their morale day by day and landed them in New York one hundred per cent fine. At Kansas City they were told it was the hottest day in the history of the city, but a plunge in the swimming pool of the park soon brought relief. An interesting incident was passing through the factory district of St. Louis. All work suspended, every window framed a group of wildly cheering workers with the marks of their toil quite visible, and almost every one wearing a flag."

"At the stations of all large cities through which troop trains pass, the Red Cross maintains branches with everything for the comfort of the men, and the Y. M. C. A. buildings are always open to them. Through Indiana and Ohio the engineers of the trains have a sort of signal whistle that heralds the coming of the troops, and the people rush to the tracks to give cheer and a wave of the flag to the boys, as they speed on to the coast."

"At Chautauqua there was to be a swim in the lake, the chamber of commerce had planned a big entertainment, and the Red Cross had a treat of ice cream and cake prepared; then something went wrong and the train was hours late. When Dr. McCrea told the men what they had missed, they expressed their opinion of the railroad in language forceful and thoroughly disrespectful."

"The last day out from New York Mr. McCrea passed through the train and bade good-bye and Godspeed to each boy. They begged him to go to France with them, and truly he did in spirit."

"At Jersey City, troops from Fort Dodge, Iowa, were occupying the top deck of the ferry boat when our boys arrived, and the torrents of good-natured abuse they poured on each other delighted the civilian population. At four in the afternoon the ferry boat moved out of the dock and in a few minutes these Utah boys were gazing spellbound on the amazing sky line of New York, while from thousands on the decks of passing boats came such cheers as they had never heard before and that thrilled them almost to tears. Is this greedy, selfish New York? No, this is New York who for eighteen months has welcomed and mothered boys from every state in the Union and started them on the last lap of their journey with smiles and cheers and with the assurance that their country is behind them to the limit."

"PRETTY BABY" ROARS ALL NIGHT, DOUBTLESS

(By United Press)
WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Aug. 31. (By Mail.)—The artillerymen have grown more affectionate than ever with their old cannons. They always hold them in high esteem, but they love the field pieces now.

One evidence of it is the names the artillerymen have given their guns. You notice it when the guns come lumbering out of cover, after being relieved by a fresh battery.

A lot of the names have a very French twist, sometimes names of girls, but more often names of towns where battles took place. But many American names like "Yankee Doodle," "Liberty Belle," and "Pretty Baby," are painted in big letters on the guns. The boys talk to the guns, as if they were human, calling them by name.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair with westerly winds.

Advertise it, or advertise for it in the Evening News.

there's Joe and Mill and me in the company. Here I've been away a long time and only Joe and Mill's out there, and they need me."

But Rufus didn't get away. He was not well enough.

Finally a morning came when the doctor said, "Well, boys, feel like going back to the line again?"

Some of them had aches and pains unregistered before, but as for Rufus, he said, "Doctor, I'm a perfect man. I reckon I can be ready in about 7 seconds to go back to Joe an' Mill and the Company."

The doctor told Rufus he could return.

Rufus could hardly control himself. "Doctor, this is the happiest moment of my life," he said. "we'll never forget it, Joe and Mill an' me and the company."

RESULT OF PRIMARY ELECTION

The result of the primary election has been tabulated by the secretary of state and is being put in pamphlet form at the state printing office. The voters did much writing in of names and the candidates were voted for by electors of all parties. The grand total received by the successful candidates in all parties shows State Treasurer Friend W. Richardson in the lead. Governor Stephens received the Republican, Progressive and Prohibition nominations. C. C. Young received the Republican and Prohibition nominations for Lieutenant Governor, while his opponent, Jo V. Snyder, will be the only real Democrat on the ticket. Jordan, Chambers, Richardson, Webb and Kingsbury received both Republican and Democratic nominations. The candidates who were nominated at the primaries received the following totals of votes in all parties:

Friend W. Richardson, State Treasurer	404,716
John S. Chambers, State Controller	402,505
U. S. Webb, Attorney General	393,896
Frank C. Jordan, Secretary of State	304,612
W. S. Kingsbury, Surveyor General	284,614
William D. Stephens, Governor	192,508
Jo V. Snyder, Lieutenant Governor	178,603
C. C. Young, Lieutenant Governor	146,398
James S. Edwards, Secretary of State	11,453
Harry V. Wheeler, Surveyor General	10,795
Horace A. Johnson, State Controller	10,672
Thos. M. Steward, Attorney General	10,559
T. K. Beard, State Treasurer	10,525
Thomas M. McKee, Attorney General	8,815
John C. Taylor, State Controller	8,769
Elvina S. Beals, Lieutenant Governor	8,690
H. K. Allbright, State Treasurer	8,548
Henry H. Roser, Governor	7,952
Edwards, Wheeler, Johnson, Steward and Beard are party Prohibition nominees and the last five on the list are Socialists.

PIGEONS CARRY ON

LONDON, Sept. 5. (By Mail.)—Nearly 1,600 messages carried by pigeons have passed through headquarters of the naval pigeon service.

A British seaplane sent the following message in duplicate by two pigeons at 7:24 a. m. one day:

"Am down off..... Rough sea."

Both pigeons brought the message in at 8 a. m. and by 8:30 a. m. a vessel had been sent to the plane's assistance.

On another occasion the crew of a flying boat found itself in difficulties at sea and sent a pigeon with an appeal for help.

There was a strong head-wind, against which the bird had to battle. He fought his way homeward until he had crossed the coastline, but his exertions proved too much for him, and he fell dead within a few miles of home. The message was delivered, however, and the crew of the flying boat was saved.

Naval statistics show pigeons succeed in delivering 95 per cent of messages entrusted to them.

COAL DEALER FINED $50

Albert E. Schwabacher, Federal Fuel Administrator for California, on September 24 imposed a fine of $50.00 on G. B. De Martini, a coal dealer at 770 Vallejo street, for violation of the recent order issued by the Fuel Administration prohibiting the leaving of coal in sacks with consumers for storage purposes. This fine will be donated by the United States Fuel Administration to the National Red Cross.

Schwabacher says other violators of this order will be similarly dealt with in the future and, if necessary, larger fines will be levied upon all violators. Proceeds in each case will be donated to the Red Cross.

SOLDIERS' NEXT OF KIN SHOULD SEND IN CHANGES OF ADDRESS

The War Department authorizes the following statement from the Acting Adjutant General:

Owing to the fact that persons designated by soldiers to receive advice in the event of their death, injury, capture, etc., fail in very many cases to notify The Adjutant General's office promptly of changes in their addresses, that office is experiencing considerable difficulty in obtaining delivery of some of its casualty telegrams.

The telegram is, of course, sent in every case to the address appearing on the soldier's record, and if the party named has in the meantime moved elsewhere it is returned as undeliverable. The Adjutant General's office finds it impracticable in most cases to locate the addressee who thus fails to receive the desired notification.

It therefore devolves upon every person who knows that he has been designated by some soldier to receive messages of this nature to notify The Adjutant General immediately whenever he changes his address. Care should be taken, whenever a communication on this subject is addressed to The Adjutant General, to state the soldier's full name, his rank, and the designation of the organization in which he is serving. His serial number should also be given, if it is known.

The person who is primarily interested in this matter is, of course, the one who has been designated by the soldier for the purpose of receiving notice of any casualty which may occur in his case, and that person justly can not complain on account of not having received the desired notice if he has himself been at fault by neglecting to keep in touch with the military authorities at Washington.

All correspondence on this subject should be addressed to The Adjutant General, Washington, D. C.

P. C. HARRIS,
Acting The Adjutant General.

TO SUPPORT NURSES IF TAKEN PRISONERS

If any American Army or Navy nurses are captured by the Germans, the American Red Cross will support them during captivity, according to an announcement made from American Red Cross headquarters. This decision follows closely upon the announcement that under the law the pay of Army nurses, if captured, can not be paid because they are technically not on duty.

The Red Cross will undertake to supply to captured American nurses not only food and clothing, but necessary money to pay their board, if the German prison camps treat them as of officer's rank and require them to pay for board and lodging, or go to work as is expected of captured Army officers. The Red Cross will assume this responsibility until such time as the Government changes this regulation.

TIN AND PLATINUM ON LEVEL

Red Cross workers throughout the country are requested to devote part of their time to collecting platinum and tin for Government uses. The campaign is being undertaken at the request of the War Industries Board. Despite the wide gulf that has hitherto separated lowly tin from aristocratic platinum, these two extremes in metals are now brought to a common level by the necessities of war. Each is regarded as of equal importance to many of the essential industries of the country, and as there is a shortage of both materials, the Government has called upon the Red Cross to help make up the deficit.

On September 17, 1917, the Edystone plant of the Midvale Steele & Ordnance Co. turned out its first rifle for the United States. Today (Sept. 16) it is turning out its millionth rifle. Thus, in one year, this concern has turned out one million rifles of the so-called 1917 modified Enfield rifle. The plant was approximately two months ahead on its first delivery.

The regular all-day meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Tropico Presbyterian Church will be held at the church next week, Thursday, October 10th.

Mrs. O. C. Lane of 1427 Vine street returned Saturday from the Thompson hospital at Burbank, where she recently underwent a serious operation, and is doing nicely.

Dr. and Mrs. David Dungan of 829 Lomita avenue have gone east for several months and were planning to make quite a stay at Eureka Springs, Kansas, and visit other points.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Tuck have returned to Glendale and are now the house guests of Dr. and Mrs. R. V. Hogue at 230 West Colorado avenue. Mrs. Tuck is Mrs. Hogue's sister.

Mrs. Mary E. Mulvihill of 310 Louise street, this city, reports the purchase of Los Angeles property between Spring and Main streets having a frontage of 35 feet and a depth of 75 feet.

The first regular meeting of the Thursday Afternoon Club of the Tropico District will be held Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of the president, Mrs. Wesley Bullis, on the corner of Central avenue and Los Feliz road.

Rally Day will be observed by the Tropico Presbyterian Church next Sunday in the Sunday School exercises which will take place at the usual hour, 9:45 a. m., and at the church service which will follow.

The Kensington Club of the Woman's Relief Corps will meet Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Irma Burns, 214 1/2 South Louise street. Mrs. Burns will be assisted in receiving and entertaining by Mesdames Effie Ripley and Tiny Hammond.

Mr. and Mrs. Haskell Lapham of Glendale and Mrs. Wagner of Kansas City were dinner guests recently of Mrs. Colin Cable on Columbus avenue, and on Friday she and Dr. Cable entertained Mr. and Mrs. Frank Weigel of St. Joseph, Missouri. Mrs. Bartlett and Miss Helen Bartlett of Manhattan place.

Quite a delegation of ladies from the Tropico Presbyterian Church attended the annual meeting of the Federation of Ladies' Aid Societies of the Los Angeles Presbytery held last week at the San Pedro Presbyterian church. The party included Mesdames Paterson, W. R. Alexander, Will Peterson, H. B. Hays and S. E. Brown.

Mrs. H. A. Downs, of Kinsley, Kansas, a relative of Mrs. S. E. Brown of South Maryland avenue (Blanche avenue), arrived Saturday and will be the guest of Mrs. Brown for a few weeks and will then find a permanent location for the winter in Los Angeles. Mrs. Downs has resided in California before, but for the past two years has been with friends in the East.

Mrs. Mary E. Mulvihill of 310 Louise street, this city, has received a telegram announcing the recovery of her daughter, Florence Mulvihill, who has been confined to her bed with Spanish influenza in Boston. Miss Mulvihill is a member of the Springtime Opera Company, which is on its way west and will reach Los Angeles in due time after filling engagements at Chicago, Denver, Salt Lake City and other points.

Mrs. John Collage of the Chandler Tract, just over the Glendale line in Los Angeles, suffered painful injuries a day or two ago when the roof of her house caught fire while being repaired with hot tar. The pot of tar overturned and caught fire while the workmen were making the repairs and the tar ran off the roof and fell upon Mrs. Collage standing below, causing a burn on her shoulder. It is not thought to be serious. The fire was of course extinguished before any material damage to the property was occasioned.

A letter from Jesse Smith postmarked Camp Hancock and enclosing subscription to the Evening News, brings news that he is now with Special Training Co., Ordnance T. C., Second Regiment, at that camp, that he is working "under a mighty strenuous schedule and a very strict commander," but that he likes his work "immensely." On the day he wrote, fifteen hundred men were to "leave for the theatre of operations" and Jesse enviously wished he might be with them. He wished to be remembered to his Glendale friends.

C. E. Peck, the Glendale jeweler, and Mrs. Peck are unexpectedly detained in the Imperial Valley, to which they drove last Saturday for a week-end visit with their son J. E. Peck, who lives in Calexico. While there, J. E. was taken so seriously ill that he was removed to a hospital at El Centro and last night underwent an operation. News received by Glendale friends today indicates that he is doing as well as could be expected, but of course his father and mother will not leave until assured that he has passed the critical point.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Evans and their daughter Katherine, who have been spending the greater part of the past two months at their cottage at Hermosa Beach, have returned and to stay, they declare, unless this "awful weather" drives them back to the beach for a week end.

Mrs. Charles Temple is just in receipt of a letter from Mrs. V. Price Brown, now residing in Fresno, in which she says she has just received news of the safe arrival over seas of her son Earl Brown, who has landed in France. He has written that he and his comrades had a fine trip, were feeling fine, and had been treated splendidly all the way. Mr. and Mrs. Brown like it very much in Fresno and do not complain of exceptionally hot weather.

CITY STREET WORK

Citizens are watching with satisfaction the reconstruction work which is being done on the streets with the road-making machinery of Glendale. The reconstruction and resurfacing of Lexington between Brand and Central is about finished and in a few days the force will be at work on Acacia street, which is to be reconstructed between Adams and Glendale avenues.

Harvard street between Glendale and Central avenues is about completed. After the work mentioned is disposed of, the city plans to send the crew to Verdugo road and with a heavy scarifier borrowed from the County to trim off the bumps on the road and otherwise improve it. This will probably be done before work on Acacia is begun.

The city also has in mind the reconstruction of Adams street for the full width, but when it will be undertaken will depend considerably on the weather. It is dangerous to tear up a street during rainy weather when the storms are liable to wash it out and cause serious loss of materials needed in its building up.

Another job laid out for the city crew is the cleaning of the channels of Verdugo wash and other water runways in preparation for the winter storms.

City Manager Watson says the city has to manage carefully to cover all the jobs it is desirable to undertake because its working force is small; that it is in about the same situation as the old-fashioned Mississippi river steamers of which they used to say that when the power had to be used to blow the whistles, the revolutions of the paddle wheels ceased.

BLESSINGS IN DISGUISE

The "Work or Fight" drives which have been made in a small way by the local Exemption Board have proved quite philanthropic enterprises so far as the registrants affected have been concerned. One case, which is a fair sample, occurred a few days ago when a registrant who was drawing a salary of $18 a week was summoned and told he must either get into something more essential than the work he was doing or be sent into the service of Uncle Sam as a limited service man. He reported the ultimatum he had received to his employer, who at once transferred him to another department of "essential" work at a salary of $125 per month, and the boy returned to bless the Board. Chairman Lanterman says that is the way it works out in the majority of cases, that employees who are of value in businesses recognized by the government, are advanced and made essential.

WAR AT FIRST HAND

 I should not say that? They are equal. I did not participate in the other wars and I can not know what suffering they endured.

Let it rest at the fact, then, that the spirit they planted is still with us. We have built on the foundation a mighty structure, a structure the likes of which has never been seen before. A structure of granite principles, welded by human cement. And the nations of the world will have cause to know that this United States of America is the greatest nation, in all meanings of the word, that God and Man have ever built.

And let us be thankful for one thing alone. It has taught the men who have traveled so many miles that justice might be given, that their own country is the finest, most wonderful place on earth, and that our women are the sweetest, truest and cleanest women of the universe.

Forgive me for taking your time with this little spurt of thought, but I just had to get it out of my system, and no one here seems to care very much about anything but current events. I imagine some of them have such spells, but a listener is not handy at the time.

Could you manage to send me Sunday's copy of the Times after you are through with it. It would be of interest.

I receive the Glendale News in bunches of three or four every four or five days. It seems odd that the letters do not come through. I know there are some. The Glendale News is a sweet breath from home and lets me know somewhat what is going on in the best city in the world. I also have received three copies of the Saturday Evening Post which I am indeed very glad to get.

Tell Dr. and Aunt Josephine, Uncle John, Aunt Emma, Aunt Lala and Uncle Dave and all the rest that although I am not writing to them yet, that I have not forgotten them, and things of interest in these letters are for their ears.

I am well and still in the same place.

Please all of you take care of yourselves and keep well.

Your Loving Son,
 OWEN C. EMERY,
 First Sergeant, 316th Ammunition Trains.

COULDN'T BLAME THE POOR BOY FOR BEEFING

(By United Press)
 WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Aug. 31. (By Mail.)—All bandaged up, he sat on a rock near the dressing station, waiting for the ambulance, looking as miserable as a man can be. He refused the cigarette, and wouldn't be consoled when assured that his wound was not serious, and that he need not worry. "Tisn't that," he said, "it's the way I got hurt. I've been in France less than two months now, and was just getting up where I could get a boche when I got thrown out of a truck, and got scratched up. I don't mind getting wounded, but that's the heck of a way to do it, and any way I never got a chance at a boche."

PRIVATE JACKSON CARRIES ON

(By United Press)
 LONDON, Sept. 5. (By Mail.)—Private Leonard Jackson left his wife and his barber shop to go to war. While he was in France his wife carried on the business. Private Leonard Jackson came back stone blind, and there were those who said he'd never be able to carry on his business as a barber. Nevertheless, he is back in his shop, awaits his customers with the same cheery smile, cuts their hair and shaves their faces just as adroitly as of yore. "The thing newly blinded people need most," says Private Leonard Jackson, "is self-confidence."

NEWLY DISCOVERED USES FOR GLUE

With our Government demanding all possible conservation in American households, several newly discovered uses for glue present to the thoughtful woman opportunities to prolong the life of household articles.

As ever family has, or should have, on hand a bottle or tube of good glue, the following practical suggestions can be acted upon without delay or expense.

To Put New Life in an Old Broom
 A teaspoonful of glue mixed in a basin of hot water poured over a broom and then allowed to dry thoroughly will greatly stiffen it, and prolong its usefulness and life.

leather is lifted or loosened. Don't cut it off and try to cover the place with blacking. Flatten the piece in place with a little glue and allow to dry. Then apply blacking and the surface will be as good as new.

For Tears or Rents in Silks

Another piece of silk or fabric of the same color placed under the tear with a thin coating of glue will bring the edges more firmly together than can be done with a needle. Allow to dry thoroughly and rent will be almost invisible.

A Splendid Way to Keep Rubbers from Slipping

Rubber overshoes often become so loose that they slip off at the heels, especially in the winter and spring when the ground is muddy or slushy. This annoying trouble can be entirely eliminated by gluing a felt band around the inside top of the rubber.

To Protect Furs and Woolens from Moths

It is commonly known that moths very much dislike the odor of ink in old newspapers. Several thicknesses of old newspapers firmly glued together may be made into the form of a bag and the garment placed inside. After the ends and all joints are firmly sealed with glue, the bag is absolutely moth and dust proof, and your protection from moths has cost practically nothing.
